

The Glengoyne Story

Glengoyne is a whisky distillery located in the Scottish countryside.

This means it is a place where I can learn about the history of whisky, how it is made and taste some samples.

When I visit Glengoyne

Inside I might see:

Casks

Whisky making equipment

Stills

Bottles of whisky

When I visit Glengoyne

Outside I might see:

Hillsides

Waterfall

Friendly staff

Old barrels

When I visit Glengoyne

I might hear:

Tour guides delivering tours

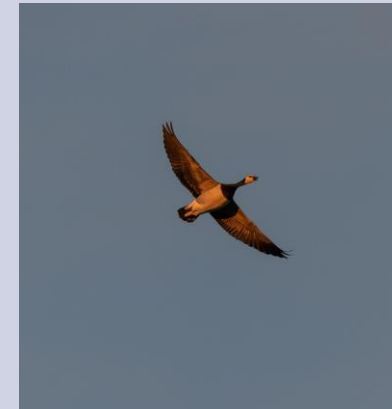

Distillers working

Whisky being poured

Bird song

When I visit Glengoyne

I might touch or feel:

Barley

Whisky drams

Heat from the stills

Tactile objects e.g. mini stills

When I visit Glengoyne

I might taste:

Whisky

Chocolate

Water

Maltose dust inside the distillery

When I visit Glengoyne

I might smell:

Whisky aromas

Fermented grain

CO2 from the washback tanks

Fresh countryside air

Most of all Glengoyne is a place where I can I feel relaxed, learn and enjoy a 'wee dram'.
